REPORT ON ESSAY WRITING COMPETITION ON "IMPACT OF ENERGY ONSERVATION ON SOCIAL LIFE" ON THE OCCASION OF NATIONAL ENERGY CONSERVATION DAY 2022

It is urgent to think over the energy conservation since there is no imagination of life without energy. Due to increasing standards of luxuries of human being, the demand of energy is increasing day by day but the stored energy resources are limited. The limitation enforces the human being to use the available resources (Conventional energy resources like petroleum, wood, etc.) in efficient manner as well to investigate some other resources (Non-conventional energy resources like Solar, Wind, Hydro, chemical etc.). To develop the consciousness about the probable crisis of energy, many programs/events can be organized in forms of Dramas, Poster presentation, Public speech, Essay writing etc.

For the same, On the 14th December 2022, a essay writing competition on "Impact of Energy Conservation on Social life" was organized by Department of Automobile of Theem College of Engineering at 11:00am under IIC (Institution's Innovation Council). The venue of the event was Theem College of Engineering, Boisar, Maharashtra-401501. The objectives of the event can be categorized as below;

Objectives: 1) Need of Energy

2) Crisis of Energy

3) Need to conserve Energy

4) Ways to save Energy for future

5) Thinking on alternatives of conventional energy sources

The event was organized under the supervision of Professor Irshad Shaikh, HOD of Automobile Engineering Department with the co-ordination of Prof. Md. Anwar and Prof. Shubham Dhodi. It was successfully executed with appreciable number of participants. The event was very much supported and appreciated by Director (Dr. N. K. Rana) and Principal (Dr. Riyazoddin Siddiqui).

Who is Abdul Kalam ? Indian scientist and politician who played a leading role in the development of India's missile and nuclear weapons programs.

APJ Abdul Kalam was a very simple person; he was the youngest sibling of 5 and never even had a television at home. He preferred waking up early at 6:30 or 7:00 am and never was in any controversy because of his personal life. He lived his life as simple as possible. Only personal belongings to him had been a Veena, his books, a laptop, some clothes, and a CD player. When he died, he had no will, and all his possessions went to his brother.

Report on 8 Days Vocational Training on Advance Solid Works Practice

Objectives:

1. To encourage the development of creative mechanical design concepts and ideas.
2. Identifying the challenges in designing.
3. To provide information about advanced mechanical engineering design.

Outcomes:

Participate will be able to...

1. Understand the importance of computer aided design.
2. Frame the ideas into actual prototype development.
3. Able to grab oppurtunities in machine design.

On 29th Decemeber 2022, a Training on Advance SolidWorks Practices was started in Mechanical Engineering Department, Theem College of Engineering in collaboration with Shirsh Technosolutions. The training had been scheduled from 29th December 2022 to 06th January 2023 (only working days).

The 8 days (40 hours) training program concentrated on various design aspects that are needed during mechanical design. The various practical design examples were discussed through extremely grounded and basic ideas. Numerous examples of computer aided design of mechanical elements like shafts, vessels, welding, etc. were explained with their basics.

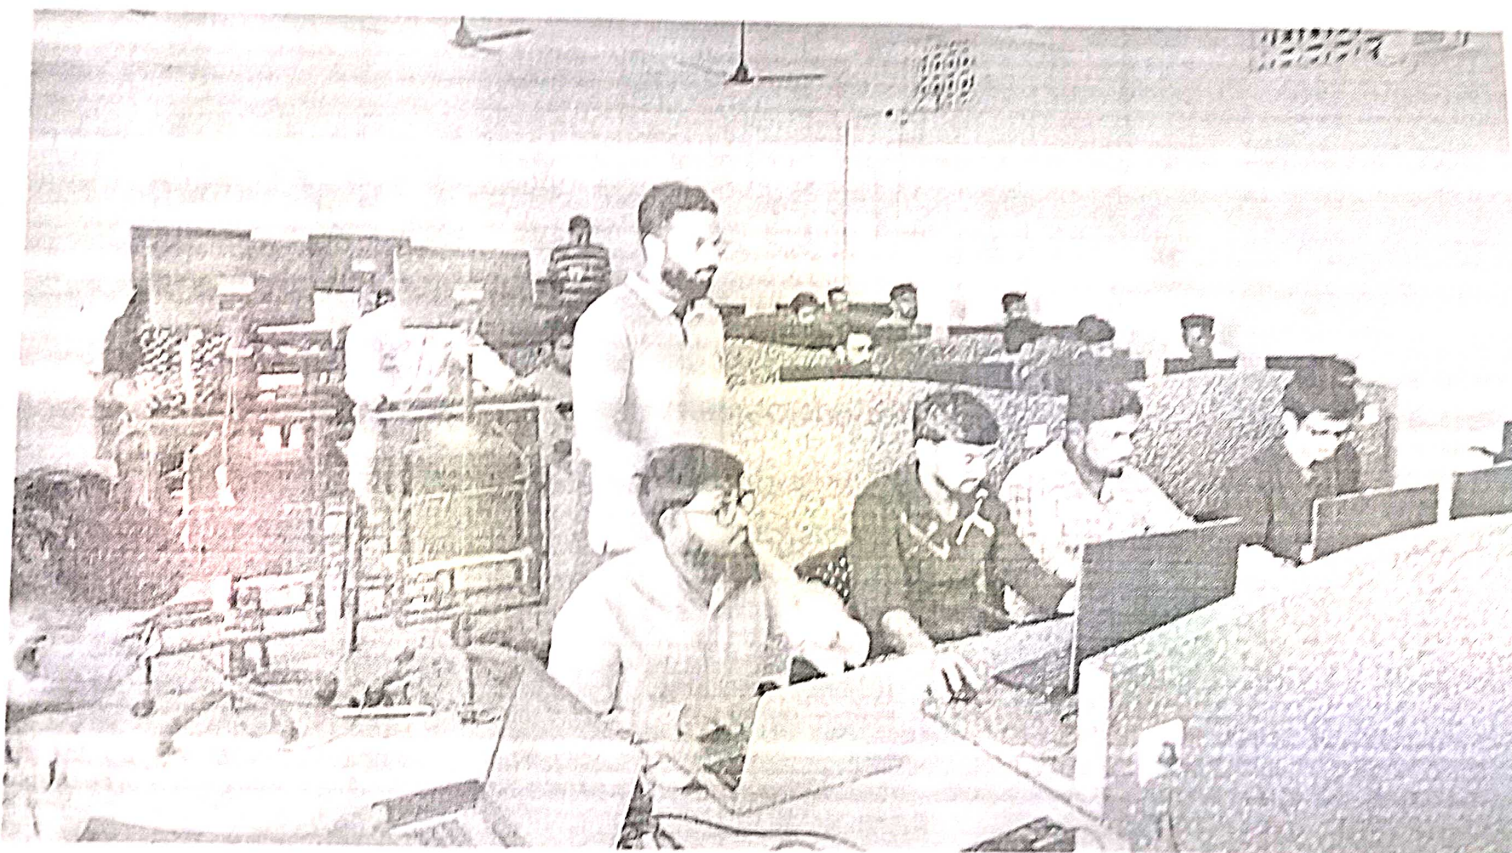

The following mentioned topics were discussed during training:

- Advanced assembly making with advanced commands (e.g. advanced mate, mating gear contacts)
- Surfacing
- Sheet Metal Working
- SolidWorks Routing
- Weldments
- Geometric Modelling
- SolidWorks Simulation (assembly animation)
- Simulation interpretation (e.g. results/ report study and interpretation)

During question hour session, the enthusiastic participants asked several queries and doubts regarding their personal challenges during various design problems.

Around 30 participants were present in the training from mechanical & automobile departments. It was a good learning experience for the faculty as well as the students about advanced designing of mechanical elements.. The event coordinator of the training was Prof. Noman Bader and the event convener was Prof. Mohammed Wasim Khan, HOD, Mechanical Engineering Dept. The IIC coordinator was Prof. Mubashir from Computer Engineering department. The program was concluded with Vote of thanks delivered by Prof. Mohammed Wasim Khan.

Concept Note by ICHR

'Bharat: Loktantra ki Janani'

The idea of Bharat needs to be cherished as there are millions and millions of Indians across the globe since times immemorial. It is so because Bharat and its 'Loktantra' have influenced as well as confluenced civilizations across the world. It made the world to know that the 'Lok' and its 'Tantra' are very symbiotic and complement each other to grant good governance. It is from this land of Bharat, that this spontaneous culture of serving the masses has made its origin.

A distinction needs to be drawn between Praja-Tantra, Jana-Tantra, and Loka-Tantra. One is a straight translation of the political system known as 'Democracy', the second is 'people versus the ruler(s) oriented system', and the third is 'a community-system oriented towards the welfare of the community'.

There are three dimensions of people's polity, a system of governance broadly referred to as 'Democracy': (i) limits on the 'Ruler(s)'; (ii) accountability of the 'Ruler(s)'; (iii) people's direct or indirect participation in governance and/or their rights of self-governance.

In India, from the Vedic times itself, two kinds of states, janapada and rajya have been in existence. The Indian experience evolved its own form of governance at the levels of the village and the central polity: (i) the federal/central political structures were delinked from the life of the community (village communities), and consequently (ii) village communities became self-governing and autonomous, and (iii) developed a hierarchy of self-governing institutions, such as Panchayat and Khaps, that enabled them to remain unaffected by and large by the changing kingdoms/ empires particularly those of the invaders hostile to Hindu culture.

This explains the survival of Hindu culture and civilisation in the face of 2000 years of invasions by alien ethnicities and cultures. This became possible because the Hindu mind from the beginning addressed the central question of how to weld this vast multiplicity that is India into a single larger community and from ancient times a geo-cultural definition has been given to this entity, rashtra, Bharata -- The country which lies to the south of the Himalayas and the north of the oceans is called Bharata and the Bharatiyas are the people of this country.

Democratic system in Bharat has evolved over the ages. There are ample archaeological, literary, numismatic, epigraphical, bhakti, and so on, evidences which emphasis on the Loktantrik tradition of Bharat. The roots of people's self-governance also lie in India's Vedic period going back, vide the recent archaeological excavations at Rakhigarhi and Sanauli, to at least 5000 BCE, if not more.

Vedic literature talks of cosmic cohesion, harmony of existence. The Upanishads stress on fundamental unity, right to life and existence for all beings. Shrimad Bhagavad Gita emphasizes on knowledge, faith, action, virtue all synthesized in human conduct.

The Vedic term for law is Dharmam. In this age in other parts of the world law meant 'eye for an eye'. A Vedic prayer notes: "If I play false may I lose the merit of all my religious performances, gifts of good deeds -- my life and even my progeny".

Dharmam was the anchor of society. Compassion, empathy, non-violence were ways of life. Good character and moral action were fundamentals of Bhartiya society.

In the Rigveda there are several terms which were undoubtedly applied to non-monarchical institutions. The two assemblies called Sabha and Samiti formed an essential feature of the government. The term Sabha denotes "The people in conclave. The Samiti in the sense of an assembly of people is mentioned in the Rigveda. It appears the Samiti was an august assembly of a larger group of people for the discharge of tribal (i.e., political) business and was presided over by the King. Both these Assemblies exercised considerable authority and must have acted as healthy checks on the power of the kings. Great importance was attached, not only to the concord between the king and the assembly but also to a spirit of harmony among members of the Assembly. The last hymn of the Rigveda invokes such unity: "Assembly, speak together, let your minds be all of one accord... the place is common, common the assembly, common the mind so be their thought united..." (Ghosh, R. C. Majumdar, p.357). It is clear that the importance of these two bodies continued in later period as well.

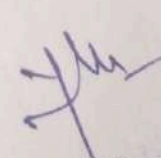

Also, there is no doubt that the people played an important part in politics. Thus, stress is laid on the necessity of concord between the king and his electors in a passage in the Atharvaveda, which is a clear testimony of the prevalence of the system of election of the kings.

Simultaneously, it should be underlined that the Bhartiya context of governance had a crucial difference with other ancient political philosophies like say Greece and Rome. In India there was the constant emphasis on inner consciousness and the need to integrate with the totality of the Universe.

Another key difference that separates Bharat from other ancient civilizations is -- there was no concentration of the prestige of birth, influence of wealth and political office which made social organizations autocratic and aristocratic. There was no aristocracy in India like say in Greece. The Hindu state rarely presented that high degree of centralization associated with the Roman empire.

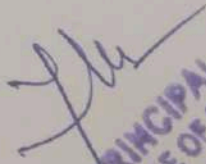

Nevertheless, in Hindu political theory, sovereignty rests in Dharma or law in the wider context. One of the most profound ideas in ancient Indian political philosophy is that power or the office of the king is only a trust.

India to the great surprise of the world with all its multiple plurality is today the world's largest successful working democracy is, because Indian people, infused with the spirit of equality, have had since the very Vedic times a lokatantrika-parampara.

STRUCTURES AND UNIONS

- Structure is a collection of items of same or different types that are collectively representing an entity such as a student, an employee, a rectangle, a complex number etc.
- In C, structure is one of the derived data type using which one can create a user defined data type in his program.

Declaration syntax :

```
struct name of the structure
{
    type1 member1;
    type2 member2;
    typen membern;
```

Note :

1. struct is a keyword.
2. Name of the structure is normally known as tag.
3. Member1, member2, ..., membern are the data item. That are collectively representing the structure. They can be of any type.

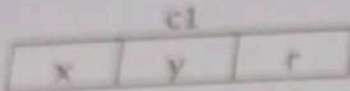

E.g. :

```
struct circle
{
    int x; /* x-coordinate of centre of circle */
    int y; /* y-coordinate of centre / float r; / radius */
```

Now, struct circle is a data type. Using this data type we can declare a variable as follows :

```
struct circle c1;
```

memory structure of c1:

Memory of c1 can be accessed as :

c1.x int variable

c1.y int variable

c1.r float variable

Reading x, y and r of c1

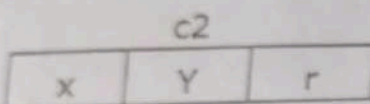

```
scanf("%d%d%f", &c1.x, &c1.y, &c1.r);
```

Printing x, y and r of c1

```
printf("%d%d%f", &c1.x, &c1.y, &c1.r);
```

Creating one more variable of struct circle

```
struct circle c2;
```

Memory of c2 can be accessed as :

c2.x int variables

c2.y int variables

c2.r float variables

Using struct circle type we can create any number of variables including an array.

Note :

1. Structure can be declared any where in a program. But normally it will be declared before main.
2. Structure variable can be declared along with structure declaration :

```
struct circle
```

```
{
```

```
int x;
```

```
int y;
```

```
float r;
```

```
} c1, c2;
```

Now c1 and c2 are variables of type struct circle.

3. Structure name [tag] is optional.

```
struct
```

```
{
    int x;
    int y;
    float r;
```

1. Create a structure to represent a rectangle. Using this structure WAP to find area and perimeter of two rectangles. #include <stdio.h>

```
#include <conio.h>
struct rectangle
```

```
{
    int length;
    int breadth;
```

```
void main()
```

```
{
    struct rectangle r1,r2;
    int a1,p1,a2,p2;

2. Create a structure to represent a complex number which is of the form $a + ib$. Using this structure WAP to find sum, difference and product of two complex numbers.

```

#include <stdio.h>
#include <conio.h>
struct complex
{
    float a;
    float b;

void main()
{
    struct complex c1,c2,sum,diff,prod; clrscr();
    printf("Enter first complex number\n");
    scanf("%f%f",&c1.a,&c1.b);
    printf("Enter second complex number\n");
    scanf("%f%f",&c2.a,&c2.b);
    sum.a=c1.a+c2.a;
    sum.b=c1.b+c2.b;
    diff.a=c1.a-c2.a;
    diff.b=c1.b-c2.b;
    prod.a=c1.a*c2.a-c1.b*c2.b;
    prod.b=c1.a*c2.b+c2.a* c1.b;
    printf("Given complex numbers\n\n");

```

```

printf("%.2f +i %.2f\n",c1.a,c1.b);
printf("%.2f +i %.2f\n",c2.a,c2.b);
printf("\nSum of given numbers :");
printf("%.2f +i %.2f\n",sum.a,sum.b);
printf("\nDifference of given numbers :");
printf("%.2f +i %.2f\n",diff.a,diff.b);
printf("\nProduct of given numbers :");
printf("%.2f +i %.2f\n",prod.a,prod.b);

Product of given numbers :14.00 +i 23.00

*/

3. Create a structure to represent a student using the following informations :

name of the student roll number marks in physics

marks in chemistry

marks in mathematics

Using this structure WAP to read a student's information, find his total marks and display his name, roll number and total marks.

```
#include <stdio.h>
```

```
struct student
```

```
{
```

```
    char name[30];
```

```
    int roll;
```

```
    int p;
```

```

    int c;
    int m;
void main()
{
    struct student s1;
    int total;
    print("Enter name, roll and 3 marks")
    scanf("%s%d%d%d", s1.name, &s1.roll, &s1.p, &s1.c, &s1.m); total=s1.p+s1.c+s1.m;
    print("Name:%s", s1.name);
    print("Roll no:%d", s1.roll);
    print("Total:%d", s1.total);
}

```

4. Create a structure using the following information :

name of the player country

bating average bowling average

Using this structure WAP to read a display one player's information :

```
#include <stdio.h>
```

```
Structure cricketplayer
```

```

{
    char name[30];
    char countryname[30];
    float bat;
    float bowl;
void main()
{
    cricketplayer c1;
    print("Enter name, country, bat avg bowl avg") scanf("%s%s%f%f", c1.name, c1.countryname, &c1.bat, &c1.bowl);
    print("Player's name:%s", c1.name);
    print("Country:%s", c1.countryname);
    print("Bat Avg:%f", c1.bat);
    print("Bowl Avg:%f", c1.bowl);
}

```

Nested structure : (structure within structure)

- If atleast one of the members of a structure is another structure then the structure is known as a nested structure.

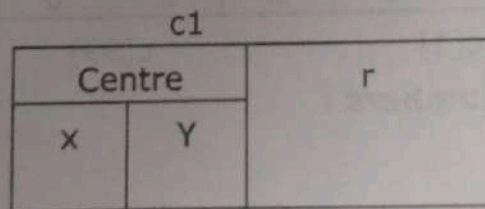

e.g. :

```
struct point
{
    int x;
    int y;
struct circle
{
    struct point centre;
    float r;
```

- Since one of the members of circle is another structure (point), circle is known as a nested structure. This can be declared as in the following manner also :

```
struct circle
{
    struct
    {
        int x;
        int y;
    } centre;
    float r;
```

- Let c1 be a variable of type struct circle.
- Memory structure of c1 is as follows :

Members can be accessed as :

c1. centre.x int variable

c1. centre.y int variable

c1. r float variable

Question :

- Create a structure using the following information :

Title

Publisher (name, city, state)

Author (name, city, state)

Price

ISBN

Ans.

```
struct book
```

```
{
```

```
    char title[30];
```

```
    struct
```

```
    {
```

```
        char name[30];
```

```
        char city[30];
```

```
        char state[30];
```

```
    } publisher, auther;
```

```
int price;
```

```
char ISBN[20];
```

```
```

Array of structure :

Consider the following declarations :

```
struct complex
```

```
{
```

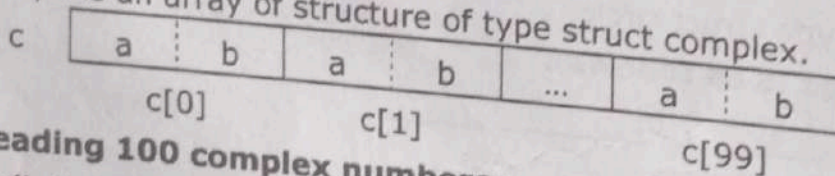

```
    float a;
```

```
    float b;
```

```
}
```

```
struct complex c[100];
```

- Now, c is an array of structure of type struct complex.

Reading 100 complex numbers :

```
for(i=0; i<100; i++)
```

```
{
```

```
    scanf("%f%f", &c[i].a, &c[i].b);
```

```
}
```

Printing 100 complex numbers :

```
for(i=0; i<100; i++)
```

```
{
```

```
    printf("%f+i%f\n", c[i].a, c[i].b);
```

```
}
```

Questions :

Create a structure student using the following information :

name
roll number total marks

Using this structure create an array of structure and read information of n students. Sort the information according to the total marks in descending order and display the same.

```
#include <stdio.h>
```

```
struct student
```

```
{
    char name[30];
    int roll;
    int total;
```

```
```

```
void main()
```

```
{
```

```
    struct student[s[100], temp;
```

```
    int n, i, j;
```

```
    printf("Enter number of students");
```

```
    scanf("%d", &n);
```

```
    printf("Enter student's info");
```

```
    for(i=0; i<n; i++)
```

```
    {
```

```
        scanf("%s%d%d", s[i]. name, &s[i].roll &s[i]. total);
```

```
    }
```

```
/* sorting */
```

```
for(i=1; i<=n-1; i++)
```

```
{
```

```
    for(j=0; j<=n-i; j++)
```

```
    {
```

```
        if (s[j].total <s[j+1].total)
```

```
        {
```

```
            temp=s[j];           //one structure can be
```

```
            s[j]=s[j+1];         //assigned to another
```

```
            s[j+1]=temp;         //structure of their types are
```

```
        }                         //same
```

```
    }
```

```
}
```

```
/* Merit list */
```

```

for(i=0; i<n; i++)
{
    printf("%s %d %d\n", s[i].name, s[i].roll, s[i].total);
}
}
/* end of program */

```

- sizeof : sizeof is a keyword and a unary operator that can be used to find size of a data type or a variable in terms of bytes.

Format : sizeof (data type or variable)

e.g. sizeof(int)=2 sizeof(float)=4
 sizeof(a)=2

If a is declared as an int variable.

struct complex

```

{
    float a, b;
}

sizeof(struct complex)=4+4=8

- union : union is a collection of items of the same or different types. If we know that some of the variables in a program will not be used simultaneously, then to save memory we can create a union of those variables. Memory will be allocated only for the largest member of the union, other members will share the allocated memory.

e.g. : union xyz

```

{
    int a float b;
    char c;
}

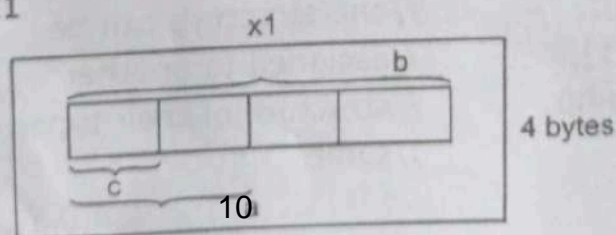

```

Note : union is a keyword largest member is a, which is a float variable. So, only 4 bytes will be allocated for a variable of union xyz.

union xyz is a datatype. A variable of this type can be declared as follows :

union xyz x1;

Memory structure of x1

sizeof (union xyz)=4.

• Comparison of Depletion type MOSFET and Enhancement type MOSFET

D-MOSFET	E-MOSFET
2. When gate is at one polar of capacitor is made positive, the channel is in the other polar of capacitor will have positive charge induced at it.	When positive voltage is applied to the gate, it will induce a channel by drawing majority carriers, i.e., electrons from P-type bulk into the semiconductor layer.
3. This is an enhancement it offers very high input resistance (about 10^{12} to 10^{15} ohms) across gates for gate. For $V_{GS} = V_{DS} = 0$ V only.	It also maintains device symbol of N-channel MOSFET of enhancement type. Here, continuous channel form are made from source to drain, before application of any gate voltage.
4. When positive gate voltage is applied to depletion MOSFET, channel is less produced.	Enhancement MOSFET does not require a V_{GS} or there is no channel in this type to conduct. Depletion MOSFET conducts at 0 V.
5. It is P-type channel is present.	Channel is not present. At the time of operation, an induced channel gets formed.
6. The an N-channel E-MOSFET, the V_{GS} can be negative for depletion mode and positive for enhancement mode.	For an N-channel E-MOSFET, the V_{GS} can be positive.
7. An insulating oxide layer (SiO_2) is present between gate and channel.	The insulating oxide layer is not present.
